THE BULLETIN.
BY EDWARD H. BRITTON.

SECOND EDITION.

BY TELEGRAPH.

Monday Morning, Feb. 23, 1863.

(TELEGRAPHED FOR THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

From Charleston, S. C.

CHARLESTON, Feb. 21.

Another French war steamer has appeared off this harbor this morning.

One of the Yankee gunboats, flying a flag of truce, has just steamed in close to our batteries on Sullivan's Island. A boat from Fort Sumter has boarded her.

This unusual event causes much speculation concerning the object of her visit.

Nothing is known in the city yet.

SECOND DISPATCH.

CHARLESTON, Feb. 22.

The object of the Yankee flag of truce yesterday was to bring orders from Lord Lyons to the British steamer Petrel, now here, to sail immediately to Washington, also to bring letters, &c., for the officers of the captured gunboat Isaac P. Smith.

The Petrel goes to-morrow. As her purpose was to be here during the attack, many believe it postponed. Other indications confirm this impression.

The quarrel between Hunter and Foster has caused much confusion in the enemy's arrangements.

Fort Sumter to-day fired a salute in honor of Washington's birthday.

Confederate Congress.

RICHMOND, Feb. 21.

The Senate was not in session to-day. In the House, various resolutions of inquiry were adopted.

The bill for the establishment of equalization of the grade of officers of the Navy was passed.

The House went into secret session on the currency bill.

then on hand. These trees are of the best quality, but are too large to be kept over until another season, and must be sold at some price. I have been selling at old prices, being desirous of working off the stock. I shall have at least 50,000 fifty thousand trees to sell, and all persons wishing trees would do well to attend this sale, as I intend hereafter to sell all kinds at from 50 to 100 per cent. higher than heretofore. This conclusion has not been arrived at from the high price every thing is now selling at, but from the fact that no one can carry on the Nursery business at our old prices without losing money. I will have the trees raised, and ready for delivery on the day of sale.

RICHMOND CORRESPONDENCE.

Editor Charlotte Bulletin.

RICHMOND, Feb. 14, 1863.

DEAR BULLETIN: This familiar phrase has become the title and is as necessary to the opening of a letter as a postscript to the finale of a school girl's correspondence. From this you need not judge me, as having ever been the superintendent of a female academy—the Gods forbid—but simply entitled to address you, as long as accustomed to the editorial ink and polish of your popular sheet, Richmond, you know, is the great heart of the nation, whence its life blood issues and returns, and where the feverish fever of the times is full blown in all its splendid corruption. It is like an ark, with a little of everything in it, or like the happy family in Barnum's Museum, that exercised in such wonderful harmony that rule of social, moral, political and domestic concord, "mind your own business." This is the place, above all others, to learn that rule, nor can one avoid looking it to heart; while the accused Yankees, with heads as hard as the most "inexpressible" daisy, seem disposed to try one more lesson in its divine teachings. Our army of Northern Virginia is ready to administer to their wants. From every source of intelligence, the army never was in better condition, in numbers, health, spirit or discipline, though through the late inclement weather stagnated in mud and mire. Like a huge snake, gorged with victory and plunder, it lies coiled up all along the railroad and banks of the river watching the enemy. In the rain, cold and snow of the past weeks, there must be much suffering and hardships, and it is gratifying that the government is provided with clothing, shoes and articles necessary to the comfort of its troops. Since October 8th, clothing is issued in kind, and mostly, I understand, of foreign manufacture. It is rated and charged at the inflated state of prices, and if not drawn is commuted at the end of the year, to the amount of $150—a considerable percentage on $50 per year. I have seen some excellent English cloth sold to officers at $5 per yard, which has brought, (so the Examiner says,) a considerable profit to some of the striped gentry. At any rate, the sale has been discontinued lately. The Commissary's Department has undergone a strict Congressional investigation, and though surrounded by peculiar embarrassments and requiring mental and physical energies of no ordinary character in its successful business, has passed the ordeal triumphantly. So, we may rest assured, that the gallant men, upon whose patriotic shoulders rest the sovereignty of the people and the independence of the government, are not forgotten by the one, nor neglected by the other. To the former, they are bound by the tenderest memories up a constant communion between home and the army. To the latter, by the consciousness of mutual dependence and upon the wisdom and strength of the government, the valor of the army and patriotism of the people, under God, the safety of the nation. And in these difficult times, it is wise and patriotic to reserve our censure, where it may fall, and let the venomous tooth of sarcasm sleep undisturbed. We should commend ourselves to the discipline of circumstances and pardon something to the imperfections of human nature; especially where remedy is impossible, or worse than the disease. We are hardly ever free from some excitement, some rumor, of peace, victory, intervention or other unwholesome drug.

Auction Sales.

Special attention is directed to the advertisements published in our columns from Charleston and Augusta where important sales of auction will be made at an early period.

The Monkey and the Cat.

It is said that on a certain occasion a monkey, dreading the effects of fire, but desiring to procure some cheese being parched, persuaded a cat to allow its paw to be used for the purpose of removing them from the smoldered embers.

A new version has just occurred. By our Telegraphic Despatches from Charleston, published yesterday morning, it seems that the Yankee Cat has used the British Lion for the accomplishment of its design. The former having tendered his catpaws services to the Lion in order to effect a reconnaissance of our works and the localities of our batteries around Charleston. We are much astonished that John Bull has condescended to allow himself to be used in such mean and dirty work.

It is true that the Yankee gunboat did not use the British flag, but the British commander accepted its services under a pretext to hear dispatches for the British Government as well as the Yankee, ostensibly to effect a reconnaissance of our works and means of defence. We hope the schemes of the representatives of the two Governments who seem to be ready to serve each other, the former although professing to be neutral, will not secure for them any great advantage.

Patriotic To Patriots.

We copy in another column articles from Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama papers, being calls by patriotic citizens to organize promptly into companies as temporary Warriors, and to tender their services forthwith to the officer in command to aid in the defence of Savannah and Charleston.

We are pleased to state that, in a quiet residing in Mecklenburg county, are moving for the same object. Services have already been rendered by some of our townsmen to the authorities in Charleston by men over age, to serve in any capacity their services may be needed—as details for guard duty, to render assistance in preventing fire by explosive missiles from the enemy, or to be in attendance to remove the wounded and administer to their wants, in case of battle and its consequences.

Those who may desire to render assistance in the way proposed will report to Dr. GIBSON.

The people of this section of country sympathize deeply with their brethren on the seaboard, and they will be found ready to render such assistance as they may be able to supply.

Vallandigham's Speech.

We have a paper before us containing a full report of the speech of this gentleman recently made in the United States Congress. The argument is for the same people of the North, not for us. We give the following extract:

Sir, my judgment was made up and expressed from the first. I learned it from Chatham: "My Lords you cannot conquer America." And you have not conquered the South. You never will. It is not in the nature of things possible; much less under your auspices. But money you have expended without limit, and blood poured out like water. Defeat, debt, taxation, sepulchres, these are your trophies. In vain the people gave you treasure and the soldier yielded up his life. "Fight, tax, emancipate—let these," said the gentleman from Maine (Mr. Pike), at the last session, "be the trinity of our salvation." Sir, they have become the trinity of our great damnation. The war for the Union, in your hands, a most costly and bloody failure. The President confessed it on the 23d of September, solemnly, officially, and under the broad seal of the United States, and he has now repeated the confession. The Priests and Rabbis of Abolition taught him that God would not prosper such a cause. War for the Union was abandoned; war for the negro openly begun, and with stronger battalions than before. With what success? Let the dead at Fredericksburg answer.

And now, sir, can this war continue? Whence the money to carry it on? Where the men? Can you borrow? From whom? Can you tax more? Will the people bear it? Wait till you have collected what is already levied. How many millions more of "legal tender"—to day forty-one per cent below the par of gold—can you float? Will men enlist now at any price? Ah, sir, but I trust I am not "discouraging enlistments." I am, then, first arrest Lincoln, Stanton, and Halleck, and some of your other Generals, and I will retract; yes, I will retract. But can you draft again? Ask New England—New York. Ask Massachusetts. Where are the nine hundred thousand? Ask not Ohio—the Northwest. She thought you were in

"million in power." Idlers of idlers, these are said to discover no little fun in the Virginia House of Delegates. The new theatre is in full blast and draws immense crowds. Pickpockets, rogues, rascals of every hue reap excellent harvests. Franklin street is the great promenade, where beauty and grace leaning on grey coats and brass buttons, with every variety of stars and stripes, strut the evening hours away. But Richmond, its ways and means, cannot be described in one letter nor will the historian in after times find in the records of this day, any just account of this capital of the South. However, it will do to live in and occasionally to write from if there are means for the pen, or matter for the other.

My pen, ink, paper, time and, I suspect, your patience, are about worn out, and with my best bow,

am yours, &c.,

ROBERT.

Auction Sales.

Special attention is directed to the advertisements published in our columns from Charleston and Augusta where important sales of auction will be made at an early period.

The Monkey and the Cat.

It is said that on a certain occasion a monkey, dreading the effects of fire, but desiring to procure some cheese being parched, persuaded a cat to allow its paw to be used for the purpose of removing them from the smoldered embers.

A new version has just occurred. By our Telegraphic Despatches from Charleston, published yesterday morning, it seems that the Yankee Cat has used the British Lion for the accomplishment of its design. The former having tendered his catpaws services to the Lion in order to effect a reconnaissance of our works and the localities of our batteries around Charleston. We are much astonished that John Bull has condescended to allow himself to be used in such mean and dirty work.

It is true that the Yankee gunboat did not use the British flag, but the British commander accepted its services under a pretext to hear dispatches for the British Government as well as the Yankee, ostensibly to effect a reconnaissance of our works and means of defence. We hope the schemes of the representatives of the two Governments who seem to be ready to serve each other, the former although professing to be neutral, will not secure for them any great advantage.

Patriotic To Patriots.

We copy in another column articles from Georgia, South Carolina and Alabama papers, being calls by patriotic citizens to organize promptly into companies as temporary Warriors, and to tender their services forthwith to the officer in command to aid in the defence of Savannah and Charleston.

We are pleased to state that, in a quiet residing in Mecklenburg county, are moving for the same object. Services have already been rendered by some of our townsmen to the authorities in Charleston by men over age, to serve in any capacity their services may be needed—as details for guard duty, to render assistance in preventing fire by explosive missiles from the enemy, or to be in attendance to remove the wounded and administer to their wants, in case of battle and its consequences.

Those who may desire to render assistance in the way proposed will report to Dr. GIBSON.

The people of this section of country sympathize deeply with their brethren on the seaboard, and they will be found ready to render such assistance as they may be able to supply.

Vallandigham's Speech.

We have a paper before us containing a full report of the speech of this gentleman recently made in the United States Congress. The argument is for the same people of the North, not for us. We give the following extract:

Sir, my judgment was made up and expressed from the first. I learned it from Chatham: "My Lords you cannot conquer America." And you have not conquered the South. You never will. It is not in the nature of things possible; much less under your auspices. But money you have expended without limit, and blood poured out like water. Defeat, debt, taxation, sepulchres, these are your trophies. In vain the people gave you treasure and the soldier yielded up his life. "Fight, tax, emancipate—let these," said the gentleman from Maine (Mr. Pike), at the last session, "be the trinity of our salvation." Sir, they have become the trinity of our great damnation. The war for the Union, in your hands, a most costly and bloody failure. The President confessed it on the 23d of September, solemnly, officially, and under the broad seal of the United States, and he has now repeated the confession. The Priests and Rabbis of Abolition taught him that God would not prosper such a cause. War for the Union was abandoned; war for the negro openly begun, and with stronger battalions than before. With what success? Let the dead at Fredericksburg answer.

And now, sir, can this war continue? Whence the money to carry it on? Where the men? Can you borrow? From whom? Can you tax more? Will the people bear it? Wait till you have collected what is already levied. How many millions more of "legal tender"—to day forty-one per cent below the par of gold—can you float? Will men enlist now at any price? Ah, sir, but I trust I am not "discouraging enlistments." I am, then, first arrest Lincoln, Stanton, and Halleck, and some of your other Generals, and I will retract; yes, I will retract. But can you draft again? Ask New England—New York. Ask Massachusetts. Where are the nine hundred thousand? Ask not Ohio—the Northwest. She thought you were in

"million in power." Idlers of idlers, these are said to discover no little fun in the Virginia House of Delegates. The new theatre is in full blast and draws immense crowds. Pickpockets, rogues, rascals of every hue reap excellent harvests. Franklin street is the great promenade, where beauty and grace leaning on grey coats and brass buttons, with every variety of stars and stripes, strut the evening hours away. But Richmond, its ways and means, cannot be described in one letter nor will the historian in after times find in the records of this day, any just account of this capital of the South. However, it will do to live in and occasionally to write from if there are means for the pen, or matter for the other.

My pen, ink, paper, time and, I suspect, your patience, are about worn out, and with my best bow,

am yours, &c.,

ROBERT.

The object of the Yankees was to bring the South to heel by force of arms. The Federal Government has been unable to do this. The Federal Government has been unable to do this. The Federal Government has been unable to do this.

Confederate Congress.

The Senate was not in session to-day. In the House, various resolutions of inquiry were adopted. The bill for the establishment of equalization of the grade of officers of the Navy was passed.

HOW TO OBEY ORDERS.

When the 16th Mississippi Regiment was quartered at Corinth, the guard around their encampment received all sorts of complicated instructions, some of which were forgotten as soon as delivered, while others were rigidly adhered to by the sentinels.

On one occasion, George Wood, of the Adams Light Guard, was instructed by the corporal of his relief not to permit any private soldier to cross the lines unless accompanied by a commissioned officer; nor was he to permit any cakes, candies, fresh pork, fruit or whiskey to enter the lines upon any pretence whatever.

"I believe I've got 'em all," said George. "Let me see, nary soldier to cross the line is left; fruit is here, and whiskey makes up the half dozen. All right, corporal, you can talk."

George had walked his beat but a few moments when an immense porker came grunting along, evidently satisfied with his prospects of obtaining a good breakfast from the garbage lying about the camp. He by and by approached close to the lines, when George suddenly shouted:

"Halt!" A significant grunt was the only response from his porcine friend, who still came nearer. "Halt! I say," yelled George, "if you don't I'll be damned if I don't shoot."

CHARLOTTE.

Monday Morning, Feb'y. 23, '63.

For Telegraph News see first page.

Steamer Nashville Gone to Sea.

We are informed by the Augusta papers that the steamer Patterson, Capt. T. H. Baker (late Nashville), has gone to sea from near Savannah.

Another Seizure Afloat.

The Houston (Texas) Telegraph says: The "606," of Rehibition, is a new Confederate steamer at large and on duty. Her officers are, Capt. Vernon G. Locke, commander; Capt. John Parker, 1st officer; G. Carroll Hicks, 2d officer; G. Hay, 3d officer; G. Price, ordnance; W. W. Gray, Purser, etc.

Horrible Death of Confederate Prisoners.

The death by freezing of twelve Confederate prisoners at Camp Douglas, Ohio, has been noticed. The 65th Illinois (Scott's regiment), on guard there, held a meeting and protested against the condition of the camp and barracks. The Chicago Times has the following particulars of the death of the prisoners:

Word was brought to the city last evening that during the night of Sunday, twelve of the Confederate prisoners confined in the pens at Camp Douglas were frozen to death. It is asserted that on Monday morning they were found in the miserable handful of hay in their bunks frozen stiff, though at all appearances in the enjoyment of perfect health the day previous. The barracks at Camp Douglas are well known to be totally unfitted, during the prevalence of such weather as the present, for the use of anything, scarcely cattle. Those in which these prisoners are confined are many of them destitute of stoves, the windows in some of them are broken out, and through the holes and the cracks in the sides and the apertures in the roof the cold wind freely enters.

Some might pattern after with profit, and do all in their power to make the condition of the prisoners comfortable. But there are those above them, who have a terrible sin to answer for. It were mercy that, after their capitalization, our cannon had been turned upon these prisoners and butchered them where they stood, than that from a far Southern clime, without any preparation being made for their comfort or protection, they should be transported hither, to meet with scarcely any thing worthy the name of shelter, the fierce rigors of a Northern winter—to be murdered by neglect—to endure the tortures of a death by cold.

A Night Reconnoissance of Charleston Harbor.

A correspondent of the New York Herald says a reconnoissance was recently made, in the night, of the defenses and fortifications of Charleston harbor. He gives the following as the result:

Charleston is a second Sebastopol. It is defended by over one thousand guns, many of them of improved European fabric. Every island, point, river, creek and swamp in proximity to Charleston is commanded by hostile cannon. Fort Moultrie is iron-cased on the harbor front, and the whole work is bomb proof. The rebels have two rams and one iron-cased battery, the latter mounting eight one hundred pounder rifled cannon, for the defense of the harbor. The casemated tier of guns of Fort Sumter is clothed in iron armor. Parallel bars of railroad iron traverse the iron coating, perpendicularly from the base to the upper line. The embrasures are protected by massive projections of the same material, presenting acute angles on every side. The rebel batteries are, fully garrisoned. The rebel army now in Charleston and the fortifications thereof is about thirty-five thousand strong, and this force is being rapidly augmented. To capture Charleston our military and naval commanders think it will take a large naval and land force, and with occupy a period of six weeks or two months. That it can be captured they have no doubt, notwithstanding its seeming impregnable.

From our Kingston Correspondent.

Kinston, Feb. 30.

Editors STATE JOURNAL.—I learn from good authority that the Yankees at Newbern are in much of a stew, which grows out of the difficulty existing between General Foster and Hunter. A large number of Commissioned Officers of high rank have resigned in consequence thereof, and gone home; and the non-commissioned officers and privates are in a state of mutiny.

About 3,000 abolitionists are supposed to be at Newbern. They have completed their fortifications at Barrington's Ferry, on the north side of the Neuse, and have nine guns mounted thereon.

We have no news of interest from the lines this morning; all is quiet. —State Journal.

The Mormons.

A report of the Committee on Territories in the United States Congress shows that the Utah Legislature suppressed the message of the Governor of that Territory; that no freedom of suffrage is allowed or opposition tolerated in opposition to the church dignitaries; that polygamy is practiced to the extent of incest; that there is no law giving redress to the abuse of the marriage relation, and the Mormons are openly inimical to the Government of the United States, though in popular phrase steadfast adherents to the constitution.

Camp at Asper, N. C. T.

Burgard, N. C., Feb. 10, 1863.

At a meeting of the officers of this Regiment, held this evening, Captain A. M. Walker was called to the Chair and Lieut. M. D. Clegg requested to act as Secretary. A committee appointed at a previous meeting reported the following preamble and resolutions which were unanimously adopted:

Whereas, it has pleased an all-wise Providence to remove from our much loved fellow officer, Lieut. Beck DUNN, Co. "A," 1st Regiment N. C. T., who died in the hospital at Richmond, of wounds received while nobly and bravely urging his men on to "Victory or death" in the battle of Fredericksburg, Va.; therefore,

Resolved, That in his death our Regiment has lost one of its most gallant officers and our country one of its best, bravest and most patriotic defenders.

Resolved, That while we deeply lament the untimely fate of our highly esteemed friend and fellow officer, thus early cut off, yet we rejoice and are proud to bear our testimony to his calm, fearless and heroic conduct in the efforts to drive the wicked and despised invader from our soil, continuing to encourage his men by word and more than all by his cool and undaunted example until he received the fatal wound, which terminated his life.

Resolved, That the relatives and friends of the deceased have our deepest and most heartfelt sympathies under this sad and afflicting dispensation of Providence.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the Catawba Journal for publication, and that the Democrat and the Whig be requested to copy.

J. E. MOORE, Capt. Co. I.
H. H. HILL, Capt. Co. B.
J. H. MANN, Capt. Co. B.

Capt. A. M. WALKER, Chairm'n.
Lieut. M. D. CLEGG, Sec'y.
